Event Details

The first Apache Retreat will be held in Knockree, Ireland, in April 2010.

PLEASE NOTE: At present, 3-day tickets are available exclusively to Apache committers. Please do not register for an Apache Retreat ticket unless you are a committer to an Apache project. If you're not a committer but you'd still like to come along, please sign up for Local visitor ticket.

The idea is pretty simple. We'll take over a youth hostel for three nights (Friday evening to Monday morning). Anyone who's interested can come.

There will be internet connectivity if your project wants to get together and have a hackathon/sprint

BERLIN BUZZWORDS 2010

This is to announce the Berlin Buzzwords 2010 scalability conference. Berlin Buzzwords 2010 is scheduled for the start of June. Topics of interest include NoSQL databases, Hadoop, Lucene and others. Our goal is to bring developers and users together in central Europe for a conference featuring talks on scaling data analysis. The team organizing this event is deeply rooted in the Hadoop, Lucene, and CouchDB communities. Interested in helping? See the requests for helping hands. Also note that we are just getting off the ground. Please be patient as we get the various infrastructure pieces in place.
